"Selena came into my life totally unexpectedly. I went with a friend to check out a potential horse for her to buy and Selena was in one of the other pastures taking a nap. When she stood up, my friend's mother gasped and said, "Becky! She looks just like Kelly!" (Kelly was my first horse). The lady who owned the ranch said, "That's Selena. She's for sale as well," and of course, my interest was piqued. I took her out and played with her a bit, but she was very flighty and I wasn't very impressed with what I saw. I had just purchased another horse two months prior, so I really couldn't afford a second one, but I took pictures of her just in case and went home.

Once we returned home, I showed her picture around to people I thought would be interested in her. A father of one of my students at the time approached me and asked, "Do you think Selena would be good for my daughter?" I told him I wasn't sure, but we could always try her for 90-days and see.

Selena arrived at the ranch on January 3, 2011 and after doing a week of ground work with her, I finally sat on her back and immediately knew that she would be too much for that student, but I could work with her and make her into a nice horse. Seven years and a whole lot of wonderful memories later, she still stands in my pasture to this day and she will be buried back there when the time comes. She is my heart horse and she isn't going anywhere."
